Making Justice Possible

Our Journey...

Almost 25 years ago, Tony Mengine and George Kontos graduated from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law and began their journey. As young lawyers, both were eager to start their careers and use their newly acquired legal skills to help represented those without a voice. They have represented injured Plaintiffs in pursuit of making justice possible. In January, 2014, George and Tony decided to team up and create a new firm. We are pleased to announce

"We are committed to representing diverse clients throughout Pennsylvania. We provide ordinary people with an opportunity to pursue justice against any opponent...we are MAKING JUSTICE POSSIBLE" others. Tony and George believed that they could make justice possible.

Although they remained very close friends throughout the years, they chose different career paths. Both were absolutely committed to helping others and pursued careers with an emphasis on representing injured plaintiffs. For over the past 20 years, George and Tony have the creation of Kontos Mengine Law Group. We believe that we are on a journey to do incredible things. We believe we can make justice possible. In this pursuit, we have hired two other trial-experienced attorneys, Katie A. Killion and Brittani R. Hassen. Our vision and focus will always remain the same. We will continue to represent
